COWBOY'S DEVOTION TO FAITHFUL

COWBOY GEORGE MORIN AND "SKEETER"

George Morin, After 38 Years on a Ranch in Wyoming, Now at the Home of His Sister, Lucy Morin, in This City—Couldn't Bear to Part With "Skeeter," Whom He Reared, and So He and His Pal Made the 3000-Mile Trip Together

Here's a picture of a real cowboy and his pony—George Morin and "Skeeter"—both of whom are now making Lowell their home. George after 38 years spent in the wilds of the woolly west, and "Skeeter," whom George corralled when the pony was only a month old, tamed and reared him and broke him into the saddle.

And George wouldn't part with "Skeeter" now for a king's ransom, even though he says he is not overburdened with this world's riches. But he feels immensely rich in the ownership of his loyal friend and pal, "Skeeter."

In fact, it was George's great love for his horse that prompted him to make a 3000-mile journey over the road with "Skeeter" from a ranch in Rowland, Wyoming, to his relatives in the east, and eventually to the home of his sister, Lucy Morin, at the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets. He has been here three weeks now, and although his mind is not definitely made up yet, he feels that he may make Lowell his

THE STATE AID DEPARTMENT ENDS FIRST HALF OF YEAR WITH CREDIT BALANCE

The state aid department has been able to finish the first half of the year with a credit balance of approximately $35,000 because its maintenance cost was over-estimated at the start of the year, requests for aid have been substantially less than in 1922 and constant investigation has eliminated a number of cases where it was found that monetary help was not necessary. It was said today by officials of the department.

The money thus saved by the department will be used to the advantage of other departments and has reduced the amount of the supplemental budget to be figured into this year's tax levy by just that much.

It is explained that 1922 was an unusually expensive year for the department and the expenditures of last year were the only basis upon which 1923 estimates could be made. The department could not foresee what would develop in 1923, but after six months had passed expenses materially decreased with a credit balance as the result.

Many service men who drew aid last year are now at work and therefore are not eligible for help from the department. Refusals of aid have been very few, it is said.

The money thus saved by the department will be used to the advantage of other departments and has reduced the amount of the supplemental budget to be figured into this year's tax levy by just that much.

At the end of two years, supposing the same dividends, the present value of the ten shares will be $254.30, and the value will reach $300 at the end of the fifth year—exact figures by last report $1018.60.

RUBY LA FAYETTE

HOPE DROWN

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—At "Centerville," comprising a few peasant girls told "Grandma Whitaker" she ought to be in the movies. To which she replied, quite as a matter of course, "I know it!"

"Centerville" is a condition rather than a place, and "Angela" is any one of a million sixteen-year-old American girls, convinced that the means of making millions await them with open arms.

"Angela" didn't get into the movies, but she became the heroine of "Hollywood," a photoplay about a girl who is released by her parents, devoted to the sentimental adventures of the Unknown, to agents who fail to make the real life.

"Hollywood" hide the popular suspense conception of the picture world, plays its respects to those who view it with alarm, pokes fun at many of its own qualities of crudeness, and perpetuates delusions in irony by having every member of the "Whitaker" family except "Angela" agree to film stardom despite their reluctance.

Kit has always been popularly sent more gifts to Hollywood than the warnings of blue-eyes against its concentrated "glitziness." "No more poverty, no more cold weather," shouts Angela with youthful faith in her and her grandpa board the train at Centerville. "I'm going to be a picture star!" She can't understand why old-time gate men and casting directors rarely take her name and address when she is so "ready to start right now."

Not even "Grandma Whitaker" and "Aunt Sarah" try to hold her back in the land of prose, understand why "Angela" is so long departing from her first days' safety, the loan that financed days' trip to movie.

Director James Cagney of "Covered Wagon" fame introduces periodically every interesting place, personage and institution in Hollywood during the process of the girl's disillusionment and failure. This is the reason for the production, the rather thin story being merely a dramatic sight seeing bug journeying leisurely through the film capital.

Among the luminaries shown in the non-star cast, yet the greatest cast in the world, as Lasky tells the play girl, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Clara Bow, Chaplin, Will Rogers, Tom Mix, etc.

BADLY BURNED WHILE FIGHTING FIRE

Michael J. Cassidy, 41, Phillips street sustained painful burns on the hands this morning when he attempted to put out a fire in the cellar of his home. His wounds were dressed by Chet Saunders and other members of the fire department.

The fire started in a heap of rubbish in the cellar shortly after 8 o'clock and soon spread to a pile of wood. Mr. Cassidy attempted to put out the blaze, but his efforts proved fruitless and while coping with the flames his hands were badly burned.

An alarm was sent in from 115 at 8:30 o'clock and when the firemen reached the premises the flames were shooting through the partitions in kitchen and living room. A couple of hoses of hose were laid in the cellar, while members of the department attacked the fire from the other places. A part of the kitchen floor was ripped up and a part of the wall in the living room was torn off before the last spark was extinguished. The damage will not be great.

At 7:35 o'clock this morning a telephone alarm was sent in for the burning kettle of fat on the gas range in the Mulcahy bunch east at the junction of Rogers and Concord streets. There was no damage.

STRESEMANN NOW AT HELM

Politicians Interested in New German Chancellor's Attitude Toward "Big Business"

Indebted to Influence and Support of Industrialists for His Advancement

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—What attitude Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new chancellor, will take toward "big business," now that he is installed as head of a social-democratic cabinet is a question which is already actively agitating the minds of the politicians. They recall that when Dr. Stresemann was widely expected to be the influence and support of industrialists for his political advancement.

When he said political lines were forced to change after the revolution of November, 1918, Stresemann, then a leader in the old national liberal party, suddenly found himself installed as head of the newly created democratic cabinet of Theodore Wolff, refused to become part of his old party.

Induced by the rebuff, Stresemann proceeded to organize the German peoples party which presently became known as the "industrial party."

It was no secret that its organizer had recruited the new party out of the ranks of the industrialists' supporters and won it their material support.

The working out of the post-war problems gradually resulted in creating a right and left wing of the party, Stresemann being commonly viewed as the champion of the liberal wing.

When the Wirth cabinet retired nine months ago, the united socialists refused point-blank to enter the coalition government in which the German peoples party was represented. Just what has prompted the socialists to abandon their erstwhile political alliance or splitting of Dr. Stresemann's party, in connection with the present crisis, is not yet apparent, but the promptness with which they consented to enter into a coalition with it suggests to political onlookers that the new chancellor evidently is in full accord with the demands put forward by the socialists with respect to the new government's internal policies.

The Stresemann group is wholly in the industrial environment and even now he is reported to be on good terms with big business as represented by the Krupp, Thyssen and others. The new chancellor's outstanding political virtue as his efforts for it in his "practical adaptation" in creating political situations in favor of which frequently showed itself in his speeches before the members of which he has been a member since 1907.

As the new cabinet represents a socialistic government, it is interesting to note that the united socialists enter the new ministry with a parliamentary asset of 173 representative members, as compared with a total of 152 claimed by the three bourgeois parties with which the socialists now are allied.

No decision has yet been reached regarding the alteration of the existing posts, although it is known the ministers decide the ministries because of the political importance of the departments.

recommendations of the board one of the institution to see if the expense cannot be materially reduced. I do not believe that your superintendent is giving much attention to economical administration of the hospital. I believe that his idea of maintaining one of the institutions is altogether too elaborate and inconsistent with reasonable living expense.

If I am in error in these conclusions, I am satisfied to have your board so advise me. I am satisfied, however, that if your board will give special consideration to the management of this institution, considerable saving in expenditures will be effected. It is my desire that economy be exercised at the expense of the physical welfare of the inmates of the hospital. I want them to receive the proper phys. of care necessary. My criticism of the institution is based upon the administrative side of the institution and general organization.

I urge that your board would make a thorough and searching investigation of the conduct and management of the institution.

BLUE BOAR

English Blend Cigarettes

A New Cigarette —a new blend

A 19 year development resulting in a remarkable discovery.
A rare delight for critical smokers. Now on sale everywhere.

At a time when cigarettes have apparently reached their limit of perfection comes a surprising discovery, a new-type cigarette, very distinctive.

As all men know, wonderful progress has been made in cigarette making. There are many excellent brands, many favorites. Blending has reached an art.

To the credit, yet despair of experts, no outstanding achievement has seemed possible lately. Each smoker has become content with his favorite cigarette—and no one has been expecting an entirely different, unusual blend.

But suddenly out of perfection, as a 19 year recompense, comes a wonder-blend, exclusive, superfine.

Its pedigree

We call this new cigarette Blue Boar because it is developed from America's favorite fine tobacco, Blue Boar Pipe Mixture.

For 19 years its tobaccos have been the finest obtainable—eight rare types of the choicest American, Turkish and Egyptian. Here was no chance for betterment.

The secret of this new-type cigarette is in a newly discovered method of blending. This may sound commonplace to men who have felt that the limit of refinement had been reached, but you will be as surprised as others when you smoke your first pack of Blue Boars.

Blue Boar tobacco is TRIPLY blended.

The ordinary process is but a single blending, which now seems crude. Yet for years experts have considered one blending sufficient, and have searched elsewhere for refinements.

In Blue Boar we blend the two American tobaccos separately. Likewise the five Turkish. Then we give the Latakia from Egypt a mellowing treatment. Each tobacco develops its finest characteristics. A third and final blending insures a rare and distinctive combination, such as you've never known before. The old way never could bring such perfection.

It is a costlier, slower process—but worth it as you'll agree. The result of this simple discovery makes all the difference in the world—an entirely new taste, a refinement of all refinements.

Your decision, please

Blue Boar Cigarettes are now on the market and already over 500,000 men have shown this triple blending their enthusiastic preference.

We ask you to sample this unusual cigarette. Learn why it is causing so much comment. Note its distinct flavor, its surprising and agreeable difference from any cigarette you have ever smoked before. Compare triple blending with the ordinary.

Buy one pack of Blue Boars. We promise you a delightful surprise. You'll undoubtedly adopt Blue Boars as your final-type favorite—and never switch again.

HEARING DISCERNED

New Radio Instrument Tells Range of Audibility

What is impossible for the human ear to perceive, or the eye to discern, the radio will divine. This direct statement is made on the report by Western Electric scientists that they have perfected an instrument which measures a person's hearing to the slightest possible degree. And to this is added the further advancement in this science toward the development of sound waves unknown to man.

The audiometer is the instrument which has been set up to measure the audibility of a person. The sensitivity of a normal ear includes 3000 pure sounds of varying degrees, designed with greater accuracy, since the experimenters say. Having as physician could specify exact degree of hearing required in certain

INFECTED TOOTH Said to Have Caused Roosevelt's Death

One of America's leading Woman's Magazines recently carried the following remarkable article headed

Theodore Roosevelt's Death

Here follows the opening paragraph:

"How expressive of his personality was Roosevelt's smile! Whether your acquaintance with him was personal or only through photographs, the attribute of Roosevelt's smile you remember most clearly is surely his smile. Those flashing white teeth won him millions of friends—yet one of those teeth killed him."

While the direct cause is said to have been what is known as "pulmonary embolism," or blood clot on the lungs, the trouble which cost the life of the great American had its start in an abscessed tooth 20 years ago, say the doctors.

There is no telling what troubles one is inviting when neglecting the teeth. The safe way is to allow a competent dentist to examine them every little while. This will safeguard you against complications.

I make no charge for such an examination—and my fees for work done are very reasonable. Better be safe than sorry! Come in!

Read the following testimonials from pleased patients:

J. HENRY FAGAN, D.D.S.

"Dear Doctor: I take pleasure in stating the upper artificial plates which you inserted for me are giving first-class satisfaction. They fit so well and look so life-like that they are scarcely noticeable from natural ones. I can highly recommend your work to all desiring first-class dentistry."

S. P. WATSON, Westford, Mass.

J. HENRY FAGAN, D.D.S.

"Dear Doctor: Wish very much to recommend your painless method of extraction. Had all my upper and lower teeth out at one sitting and never felt a thing."

FRANK G. GRAYSTY, 209 Gorham St., Lowell, Mass.

J. HENRY FAGAN, D.D.S.

"Dear Doctor: It is with pleasure I write of the satisfaction of the work which is so perfectly done by you. The restoration of teeth in my case is so perfect that I cannot distinguish them from the natural. Your method is far superior to any other method, and I would recommend it to anyone desiring teeth restored."

THE ENVY OF RADIO AMATEURS

Charles Erbstein, noted Chicago criminal lawyer, shown here, may well be said to have one of the most perfectly equipped stations in the country. In fact, it is a regularly licensed broadcasting station, whose call letters are WTSF, and from which Erbstein sends out concerts of his own devising. The interior of his studio is said to be one of the most artistic and handsomely furnished in the country.

Sight, Too

Similar to this instrument, it is expected, radio will be the key toward the invention and perfection of a sight registering apparatus. Thus the distance a person can see, and the accuracy of his eyes could be registered more precisely than does any instrument of today. Radio, with its detection of the finest wave lengths and frequencies, could easily be a means toward the accomplishment of such a feat.

It is not difficult to perceive of a radio instrument also which could detect the faintest sound and discern the slightest ray of light—both out of the range of human ear and eye. Out of this could come rescue apparatus for entombed miners. Hearing equipment and such serviceable means of saving lives quickly.

PAY-RADIO-PHONE

Aerial practical installation of the long-heralded pay station for radio has finally been begun in Paris. Cafes, hotels and other public places have these slots with earphones, through which a broadcast concert can be heard after a coin is dropped.

WAR VETERAN RECOVERS QUICKLY

Years of Suffering, Result of War Experience, Overcome By Dreco

Mr. Leo Dery, 38 Kennebunk St., Lowell, Mass. says:

"Throughout the night I would toss and pray for morning to come. My nerves were on edge. I had no appetite for food, just ate because I thought I had to. Each day I grew thinner and more peaked. Always felt tired and when I walked I just dragged one foot after the other. I used to envy everyone that had health."

"My liver was sluggish and my abdomen was enlarged and puffed by acute constipation, that caused splitting headache that I thought would drive me mad."

Then my stomach began to give me trouble. Gastritis kept me in misery and I had a bad taste in my mouth and belched. Everything that I took did not help me. So I suffered. No one knew how I suffered until I started taking Dreco."

"What a relief, when this medicine started to get in its good work. When constipation disappeared as it did, I now feel like a new person again. I have taken a new walk on life. I hope everyone suffering like I did will take a new lease on life by starting in their first bottle of Dreco."

Call today at Green's Drug Store and ask to talk with Mr. Proble, the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will courteously tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also he will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you. Also Dreco is sold in Nashua by Nashua Drug Co., 175 Main street.

HELD ANNUAL OUTING AT REVERE BEACH

The members of Court St. Antoine O. C. E. held its annual outing at Revere beach yesterday. Four special electric cars left upper Marlboro street shortly after 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning loaded with friends and members of the court. Upon arrival at the ball park where a hotly contested battle was staged between two teams consisting of married and single men, the victory went to the married men.

No arrangements had been made for dinner the party broke up for dinner hour, some going to various hotels and restaurants and others partaking of basket luncheons which they had brought with them.

During the course of the afternoon track meets were run off, and later swimming was enjoyed. The return from the beach was made about 6 o'clock, the party arriving in Lowell about 9 o'clock. The committee in charge of the affair was President Omerine Tremblay, Secretary treasurer Armand Beauchemin, Eugene Trudeau, Alphonse Letellier, Joseph Giguere, Edward Généreux and Joseph Goyette.

Tree Dedicated to Memory of Harding

GIANT FOREST, Calif., Aug. 13.—A permanent memorial of the late President Harding was contributed here yesterday by California's forests when the second largest tree in the world was dedicated to his memory as the "Warren Harding tree." In dedicating the giant sequoia, 32 feet in diameter and 280 feet in height, Col. John R. White, superintendent of the Sequoia and Grant National parks, declared that the colossus, already 5000 years old, "will grow stronger and greater and will stand as a monument of our late president when the pyramids and granite shafts have crumbled to dust." The memorial tree is next in size and age to the famous General Sherman tree.

"DOUBLE ACTION" Means a New Degree of Cleanliness

SUNBRITE, the "double action" cleanser, does not stop with scouring—it sweetens and purifies, too.

There are various degrees of cleanliness. There is the ordinary kind which simply means the absence of visible dirt or stain. Then there is surgical cleanliness, neither possible nor necessary in the household.

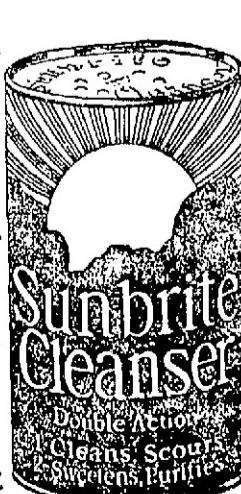

But there is another degree of cleanliness which housekeepers often wish they might be sure of—the kind which is not only visibly clean but really sweet and pure and sanitary.

SUNBRITE brings this greater degree of cleanliness to the household. For it cleanses with "double action"; it not only cleans and scour in the ordinary way as all good cleaners do, but it has another and more far-reaching effect—it also sweetens and purifies.

FOUR HELD IN BERGDOLL CASE

Arrested After Gun Fight in Attempt to Kidnap American Draft Evader

Bergdoll Killed One and Wounded Another in Dark Room in Eberbach Hotel

Bergdoll Planned to Return

to United States With His Mother Next Month

EBERBACH, Germany, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, said last night that he had expected to return to the United States with his mother on Sept. 27, but that last Saturday's effort to kidnap him made him hesitate about doing so.

Mrs. Bergdoll was not in the hotel when the attempt was made to seize her son. Bergdoll has been arrested, but has made a formal statement to the police.

The four men held in connection with the attempted kidnapping were removed last night to another place in Baden, the name of which was not made public. They are: Griffith, a former American lieutenant; Fausto Okaren, a Russian prince; Roger Sperber, a French detective and a citizen of France; and John Nelson, an American chauffeur.

The German police say that Sperber, who was wounded twice during the clash in the hotel, has informed them that Griffith engaged him in Paris two months ago to arrange the kidnapping, telling him that a well known American organization was financing the affair.

Karl Schmidt was shot three times by Bergdoll within 10 minutes and died without making a statement. He was a Swiss citizen and a resident of Lausanne.

The shooting occurred in a dark room. Bergdoll fired six shots, three of which hit Schmidt while two struck Sperber and one went wild. Sperber will be charged with attempted murder, while the charge against the other prisoners will be complicity in a murder conspiracy.

Plaisted and Reilly, Sculling Marvels Half Century Ago, Prepare for Annual Scrap

By N. E. A. Service
MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 13.—There's a bearing, the foursome mark—those youngsters, Fred Plaisted and James H. Reilly.

But this doesn't mean a thing in their short lives.

Why don't you know, they're getting ready for their annual sculling bee. They're going to show up some of these mere babies like Walter Hooey, Jack Kelly and Mike Revere.

Plaisted and Reilly have been going to win again. Remember how he covered a mile and a quarter on the Schuylkill river last year in just 8 minutes and 33 seconds, edging Kelly out by only very narrow margin?

Billy's Got Irish Up

But he'd better watch out for Jim

Holly. There's plenty of fire in that Irishman's eyes. He's out to get revenge—and a double measure of it!—who thought he could get the best of his rotten luck in 1922.

A good many folks admit Plaisted stands the better show. He's quite a bit younger, they say. Fred's only 26.

All this gormip, however, doesn't worry Reilly one particle. Why, a man's more mature at 29 than at 25, and possesses more strength and endurance. So this Plaisted doesn't need to go around bragging so much.

Ten Eyck Included

Again it was Plaisted who issued the challenge. And it included coach Jim

SWIMMING CHAMP KAMM WORTH $100,000

THOUGH ONLY 15

By N. E. A. Service
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 13.—Ruth Thomas must have learned to swim about the time she began mastering her alphabet.

You'd judge as much from the array of medals and ribbons she has been awarded these last few years. Only 15, she already has won the Grand Prize in the national swimming championship.

Ruth, pretty and bob-haired, is the eldest daughter of Howard Thomas, former engineer manager of the National and Eastern Basketball Leagues in the days of Charley Dewart, Joe Fogarty, Al Cooper and Leo and Dan Haggerty.

Before signing up with the Ambassador Swimming club here, she wore the colors of the Philadelphia Turners.

Coach Ronald (Pat) Reilly, former Meadowbrook Athletic club star, is confident Ruth will lead all comers a merry chase for a good many years yet.

You know she's only 15. And only a sophomore in high school.

ship, the 220 junior breast stroke cup and the 200-yard women's ocean crown.

And now she's after the 220 senior breast stroke title. She'll compete for it at the Indianapolis swimming carnival Aug. 18.

If Lady Luck is with her then, Ruth should have no trouble in landing a berth on the American Olympic team.

CHICAGO CLUBS BOAST LEADING ROOK PITCHERS

By RILEY EVANS
NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The Chicago club run for its money when it spent $100,000 for Third Baseman Bill Kamm.

If you should put that question to Kid Gleason, manager of the White Sox, he would soon settle it and in a most decided manner.

Prior to the opening of the season Kamm was the most talked about man in baseball, not excepting Babe Ruth or any of the other celebrities.

With the season well on its way Kamm no longer occupies the headlines. The injury occasioned by the fact that Chicago paid a fabulous sum for an untried rookie has worn off.

What about Kamm?

I put that question to Manager Gleason coming up from Boston recently. We were sitting in the buffet car discussing players of the past and present.

Great Praise from Gleason

"He's a wonder," the Kid popped off, "the greatest third baseman since the days of Jimmy Collins."

Kamm is a wonder, without such ease and grace that a great many of the fans fail to appreciate his remarkable ability. Like Jimmy Collins and Larry Joliette he makes the hardest kind of challenges look easy.

Opposition clubs often must have intuition that must sense the play that is about to be pulled. Likewise they must learn the mannerisms of every batter. Most batters you know tip off their intention to bunt by doing something at the plate just a little different.

Kamm seems to glide over the field instead of run. He is a marvel with his gloved hand, can throw from any position and has a strong and accurate arm.

Will Improve at Bat

"Kamm is a wonder right now in the field and yet he is improving every day. Twenty years from now when Kamm has passed out of the picture, fans will be reading his greatness."

Bill has the ideal disposition for a great ball player. Nothing worries him. If he has a bad day he will probably come back the next day with a spectacular exhibition.

Some of the baseball experts say the Kamm has failed to make a real league pitching as well as expected. He is around the .300 mark and that's probably good enough for me. And he's going to be a much better pitcher in a couple of years. He has a few faults at the plate that handicap his batting, but these are being overcome.

"Kamm is worth every cent the Chicago club paid for him."

There you have the opinion of Kid Gleason, one of the game's greatest managers, and in his defense as a player one of the game's smartest talkers. You would think what Gleason had to say about Bill Kamm. He already ranks with Collins, Bradley and Doyle.

8-HOUR DAY REALITY IN GARY STEEL MILLS

GARY, Ind., Aug. 13.—The eight-hour day in the United States Steel Corporation mills here becomes a reality today. The change from the two shift to the three shift system included at first only the blast furnace workers.

Open hearth workers will be placed on the eight hour shift on August 16, it is reported, and by the end of the year every worker in the Gary plant will be on the eight hour basis.

As a result of this change, the men will receive a wage increase of 25 per cent, based on the basis of time employed, but they actually will receive 50 cents a day reduction in wages. Under the old system, however, they had to work four hours longer to earn $4.50, than they will to earn four dollars.

It will require the hiring of 500 additional blast furnace men at Gary to put the program into full effect.

In this manner possible by a staff of experienced cooks and waiters the lowest prices in the city for a good regular dinner. Every patron is invited to inspect the lunch room from top to bottom at any time as Mr. Karvelas is destroying that all who eat at his restaurant know how modern are the methods employed in having everything clean and wholesome.

Johnson Admits He's Slipping

WALTER JOHNSON

By N. E. A. Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Walter Johnson is going back.

Walter admits it himself, so there can be no doubt about it.

At times Johnson looks as good as ever, but his pitching lacks the old consistency that made him the greatest pitcher in the history of baseball.

Johnson has been pitching in the American League since 1907. He has always been on a losing team, never with a great club. As a result, in order to win he invariably was forced to use his pitching to the limit.

When it comes time to go back the plane is invariably full to an ailing plane.

Johnson is inspired and batters tell me after certain games that I had as much stuff as ever. In those games my legs have always felt strong. It's a pair of weak legs rather than an ailing arm that is robbing me of much of my old-time strength.

"Of course, I am not as good as I was 10 or 15 years ago. Age tells in baseball quicker than any other sport," speed."

"I'm going back, and no one knows it better than I do. It may surprise you, however, to know that I figure it is my legs, not my throwing arm that trouble me more."

"Unless a pitcher's legs are strong and able to stand up under the constant strain of standing on every ball pitched, he can't get his stuff on the plane."

"My legs are far more troublesome than my arm. Some days they seem too weak to support my body after I have gone four or five innings at top speed for active duty for the remainder of the summer."

MEN'S INVITATION TENNIS TOURNAMENT

NARRAGANSETT, R. I., Aug. 13.—The men's invitation tennis tournament opened today on the Casino club grounds held with a round robin and between U. S. Norton, San Francisco star, and M. C. Norton, Harvard occupant of the championship court. Five of the country's "first ten" in tennis ranks were entered.

In addition to the feature first round match several round round contests were on today's program. In the lower half of the draw James M. Davies of California was paired with Lucien N. Williams of Yale in one contest while another was to bring together Charles T. Williams of Illinois and Sam Glazebrook of Washington. In the upper half Manuel Alonso of Philadelphia and Jose Alonso with Howard Kinney of California.

The draw was as follows: Riley, Lanyon, B. M. McLean, Kyle, Lafferty, Peacock, Mahoney, Brown, Shinn, and Kinney.

Whether the Emeralds will be beaten by the Buffaloes will be decided by Friday afternoon.

AUGUST MILL DIVIDENDS

More than one straw shows which way the New England wind of prosperity blows. Even with a so-called "dull season" in cotton textile manufacturing and sales markets, the condition of most of the "big line" textile concerns in New England communities, Lowell included, is prophetic of the times. There is no question that it has been a prosperous run thus far in 1923. There is no better indication of prosperous times than a glance at the dividend announcement columns of leading financial publications covering the textile mill disbursements in mid-summer as per semi-annual or quarterly dividends.

Heading in the publicly announced list as usual, comes the Merrimack Manufacturing company, with announcement of preferred stock dividend No. 39, a semi-annual dividend of two and one-half per cent, to be paid on September 1 to stockholders of record. The Merrimack will also pay a quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent on common stock, Sept. 1.

The venerable Hamilton Manufacturing company, old in years but still young in spirit and active in manufacturing comfortable quantities of high quality cotton goods, always in demand, announces the payment on August 15 of a quarterly dividend of one dollar per share.

Across the way the Massachusetts Cotton mills have just disbursed a dividend of three dollars per share to stockholders of record at the close of business July 19. And the Ipswich mills, burdened by a twelve months' "slow business," but picking up fast with new hosiery lines in good demand, have just paid a quarterly dividend of one and three-quarters on all preferred stock, the disbursements being made August 1. Down in Lawrence the Pacific mills, among other great thriving textile concerns, paid quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent as usual on August 1.

The story continues in all mill centers where the textile business has flourished for so many years. The records of the past only prove that the future is still bright. New England's thriving manufacturing concerns of the American textile industry, show no tendency to slip backward. The dividend disbursements come along with a regularity that augurs well for the future.

KU KLUX MEMORIAL SERVICES?

Where did that narrow minded, intolerant and un-American cult, the Ku Klux Klan, hold memorial exercises on the death of the late President Harding? Surely a society that claims a monopoly of the Simon pure patriotism of the country, held exercises to extol the memory and the character of Mr. Harding who was a real patriot and a true American. But as such he could not accept or approve the principles of the K. K. K. which would banish about half the people of this country, or else deprive them of their rights. President Harding alive could never stoop to any such infamous and un-American travesty on patriotism and Americanism as the tenets of the K. K. K.

No other benefit that can be derived from the life, the teaching and example of Warren G. Harding can equal that of the spirit of good will, mutual respect and harmony which he endeavored to inculcate among the people wherever he went. It is by practising these patriotic virtues of which Mr. Harding was the exemplar that we can become a more harmonious, more powerful and more sensible people and better Americans. But his example and his practical Americanism were the very antithesis of the anti-American principles of the K. K. K.

Needless to say, that nobody can advocate a doctrine subversive of the constitution and at the same time be a true American. Therefore, the K. K. K. are not Americans but rather pharisaical hypocrites and would be usurpers of the rights, the property and the privileges of certain classes of honest Americans who in every test have proved their loyalty to the union and the flag.

INFANT MORTALITY

This is the time that tries the endurance of little children, particularly infants under one year old. It is the time when the gasoliners have to exercise the greatest care and skill in keeping the little ones well. Young children are very easily overcome by heat, particularly if exposed to the sun on a hot day. There is a good deal of carelessness in regard to protecting infants from the hot sun, as may be seen almost daily when boys and girls wheel infants in baby carriages to the parks or commons under the broiling sun and without any protection whatever. Evidently they are sent to take the babies out to the common for an airing, but unfortunately for the babies these boys and girls do not seem to have any idea of the dangers involved in exposing the little ones to the sun.

STEINMETZ AND FORD

Charles P. Steinmetz, the wizard electrical engineer, urges business men to try Henry Ford as president as a business proposition. Although Steinmetz is the foremost electrician in the country, his advice in political matters is of much account. He is reported to be an out-and-out socialist which if true would indicate that little attention should be given any red-letter day to other issues. In the respects that labor and Lowell have the highest infant mortality in the state. The average for Fall River from 1916 to 1920 was 152 deaths per thousand, in 1921, it was 148. For Lowell the averages for the same years respectively were 141 and 142 for Lawrence, 141 and 150 for the city of Springfield; the figures were 142 and 148 for Worcester, 141 and 141; Salem 91 and 92.

These figures are somewhat misleading as they relate to the deaths per 1000 of population instead of per live babies. For example, if there are two cities of equal population, one having twice as many babies as the other, the infant mortality in the former would naturally be greater than in the latter. Fall River and Lowell have more babies in proportion to the population than have other cities engaged in different lines of industries such as for example Springfield, Lynn and Cambridge. Still in factory cities such as Lowell, the infant mortality is higher than it should be. There has been a marked decrease in the last few years and it is hoped that the work of saving the babies during the hot weather will continue. One of the reasons for such sickness among babies in a city like Lowell is that many of the mothers work in the mills, buying the little ones in charge of older children, a custom which is responsible for a great many deaths.

GASOLINE WAR

Gov. McMaster of South Dakota has started a war on retail gasoline dealers in his state and also against the Standard oil co., which he charges sells its products at highway robbery rates. Independent dealers, he asserts, sell gas at the state supply depot at 16 cents per gallon, and there, he claims, the company dictates the price so that there is no chance of reducing the rates except through a gasoline war. But the retail price has been reduced

Winged Intruder

While driving home in the fog about midnight, Michael Gaucher of East Bridgewater had the surprise of his life when a large wild goose came crashing through the windshield of his car. The bird kept on going, striking against the rear window, then falling to the seat. The windshield was smashed and the frame was badly bent. The bird broke its wing and Mr. Gaucher had to kill it.

Exalted Time Confused

An overdressed and naughty woman got in a London bus and tendered a coin without corresponding to glance at the conductor, who asked: "Where do you want to go, madam?" "As far as that will take me," she replied, tactfully. "Well, it won't take you anywhere," was the retort, and everybody enjoyed the dame's confession as she took back the penny and tumbled in her handbag.

Giving Full Credit

Hoffy, as the boys affectionately called him, was an editor who was always anxious to give credit where credit was due. He urged every man who did any clipping to give the name of the author and the publication as well. He would often say: "Never forget the exchange my boy." And so he could not help feeling gratified one morning to see that the next exchange had printed a beautiful sentence. The editor had read: "William Shatner is a scoundrel."

McMaster's home state."

SCOTCH FIELD DAY WAS BIG SUCCESS

A Scotch field day was conducted at Bunting park Saturday, under the auspices of the Lowell Pipe band, and a big crowd thoroughly enjoyed itself. There were running races and field events of all kinds, and, of course, the usual competitive dancing that sent a thrill through every Scotchman present.

During the afternoon the Pipe band played a concert, and previous to the gathering at the park, marched through the business section of the city, accompanied by the Walter Scott Juvenile Pipe band of Boston. The youngsters made a decided hit.

Most of the prizes in the dancing contests were won by out-of-town contestants, as there were only a few Lowell entries. Miss Flora McLean of this city, however, captured the first prize in both the adult sing and sword dance, and Isabel Morris, also of this city, was first in the sword dance for girls under 16.

The winners in the various events were as follows:

50-yard run, girls under 10 years—Won by Alice Owsdale; Ruth McLean, second; Helen Armstrong, third.

50-yard run, for little boys—Won by Eris Clark; Thomas Taylor, second; Harry Schatzl, third.

Race for girls under 18 years—Won by Edith Garside; Helen Cummings, second; Marguerite Armstrong, third.

Boys under 15 years—Won by Nels Larson; Norman Lawson, second; John Lorrigan, third.

Young ladies' race—Won by Lucy Ward; Clara Russell, second; Edith Lansdowne, third.

Older ladies' race—Won by Mrs. Mary Shiver; Mrs. Hilda Schleitl, second; Mrs. Margaret Hopwood, third.

TWO SHOT DEAD BY LUNATIC

Man Recently Released From Asylum Ran Amuck in Fall River Streets

Killed Two and Fatally Wounded Another—Captured After Gun Battle

FALL RIVER, Aug. 13.—Two men were shot and killed and a third probably wounded when John Kennedy of Tiverton, R. I., ran amuck with a revolver here yesterday. Kennedy was later arrested by a mounted policeman after a street gun fight in which he was twice wounded.

The dead are:

James Clarke, an elderly man, and James Laflamme, both of this city. James Shaw, also of Fall River, was shot through the abdomen.

According to the stories told by Kennedy's father, neighbors and police, young Kennedy walked into the yard at Clarke's house where the latter was sitting chatting with Kennedy's senior, and gave each man three bullets.

"There are three pills for each of you all," he is reported to have said. Then he drew a revolver and fired one shot, killing Clarke instantly. The older Kennedy sought refuge behind a barn. Three more bullets were fired into Clarke's body.

Laflamme, a neighbor, heard the shooting and came into the yard accompanied by Ulric Robillard, his brother-in-law. As he stood over Clarke's body, young Kennedy came from behind the barn.

"What's the matter here?" he asked. "Has somebody been shot?"

"I guess so," Laflamme answered. At once according to Robillard, Kennedy drew his revolver again, held it close to Laflamme's face and fired. He then walked out of the yard and down Safford road. Meeting another neighbor, James Shaw, in the street, Kennedy fired two shots, one of which took effect. Physicians said Shaw's abdominal wound would probably prove fatal.

Sister Mary's KitchenVegetable Marmalades

There are a few vegetables that make delicious and unusual sweets. Carrots are especially good. The vegetable marmalade can be used. Beets are attractive and combine well with fruits and berries alone or in combination. Radishes especially that are heartily appreciated during winter.

There is a distinct saving in the use of vegetables. They are cheaper than fruit in the first place and make it possible to decrease the amount of sugar in the second. The vegetable acts as a sort of filler or foundation while the fruit simply adds flavor.

Of course a vegetable marmalade is not as rich as an entire fruit sweet, but for everyday use in a family with children the "imitation" marmalade is desirable.

Imitation Orange Marmalade

One pound carrots, 2 oranges, 1 lemon, 3 cups sugar.

Scrape carrots and put through food chopper. Cook in boiling water to cover raw carrots minutes. Wash oranges and lemon and squeeze out juice. Cook radish in water to cover well. Shred radish or put through food chopper. Add juice, sugar to carrots and simmer till thick and jelly like. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cool. It will not take long cooking to make the marmalade, as there is much pectin in lemon rind.

Imitation Apricot Marmalade

One pound carrots, 3 lemons, 4 cups sugar, 1/2 blanched almonds, 1/4 teaspoon peachtree flavoring. Wash and scrape carrots. Put through food chopper and cook in boiling water to cover till tender.

The police have learned that the thefts occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning and that the loot was carried away in an auto truck. Investigators are now working on the cases.

note to the French government offically. It was said, was the contention that the occupation of the Ruhr was illegal.

Justifies Ruhr Occupation

"The legality of the occupation of the Ruhr or any other German territory the Allies might choose, was recognized in a document signed at Spa in July, 1920, by the British as well as the other Allies and by representatives of the German government, an official said."

He referred to the protocol in which was set forth the decisions of the conference regarding coal deliveries on reparation account, in which clause:

"Up to Nov. 15, 1920 it appears that the coal deliveries for August, September and October have not reached a total of 600,000 tons the allies will proceed to the occupation of new territory in Germany in the region of the Ruhr or elsewhere."

The official characterized as an "unjustified interpretation" the comparison made by Lord Curzon between France's war debt and the reparation due from Germany.

"Our war debts," he said, "enabled us to win the war and helped us to make a greater military effort to save British and American lives while the German debt represented blood of the allies that was shed. France does not re-pudiate her debts. She has wiped off the war debts owed her by some of her allies but she intends to pay her own."

LONDON Papers Approve Note

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press.) A majority of the morning newspapers approve either wholly or in the main, the British note to France and Belgium.

"The note is strong, but not too strong," comments the Times. "It was high time such a clear statement of the British case was made."

This newspaper adds:

"This note, it is said, "enabled us to win the war and helped us to make a greater military effort to save British and American lives while the German debt represented blood of the allies that was shed. France does not re-pudiate her debts. She has wiped off the war debts owed her by some of her allies but she intends to pay her own."

Calls Occupation Illegal

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press.) A majority of the morning newspapers approve either wholly or in the main, the British note to France and Belgium.

"The note is strong, but not too strong," comments the Times. "It was high time such a clear statement of the British case was made."

This newspaper adds:

"This note, it is said, "enabled us to win the war and helped us to make a greater military effort to save British and American lives while the German debt represented blood of the allies that was shed. France does not re-pudiate her debts. She has wiped off the war debts owed her by some of her allies but she intends to pay her own."

Sum to Offset Debt in United States

The communication reiterates that Great Britain is still determined that she shall pay to the maximum of her capacity, but asserts that "what that maximum may be should be decided by an impartial inquiry." For her own part, Britain would be willing to obtain from German reparations and allied debts a sum sufficient to meet her debt to the United States.

The present situation in the Ruhr, says the note, constitutes a grave political and economic crisis which is having a particularly noticeable effect on trade.

The communication declares that Great Britain would be willing to have representatives of both the United States and Germany on the proposed board of inquiry into the Reich's assets, that the reparation commission being predominantly Franco-British would hardly be competent to conduct such an investigation.

"When steps have been taken to ascertain the real value of the assets represented by German reparations," continued the note, "and to settle its realization without further depreciation, his Majesty's government will be ready to do all in its power, circumstances permitting, in the light of its respective capacities to pay with the debts due to Great Britain by her allies."

"They cannot, having regard to Great Britain's heavy industrial commitments and the war debts, assume too burdensome on its trade whilst other countries are justified in claiming that the agreed percentages on reparation payments should now be further modified on changed circumstances of nations."

"But they remain prepared to ask for no more in respect to the very large

HE PROPOSES A CHILDREN'S MEMORIAL TO HIS FRIEND

William Chester McDonald has spent five of his 11 years strapped in bed. A year ago President Harding sent Billy an autographed photograph and a message of cheer. Today Billy proposes that the children of America contribute their pennies to build a Children's Building, as a memorial to his lamented friend at the Sesqui-Centennial celebration at Philadelphia. Here he is explaining his plan to Mrs. Winifred Stoner, author, at his hospital-home in Atlantic City. Mrs. Stoner started the fund with $1000.

such a more perfect swimming pool. The water is as clear as crystal. The bottom is of white pebbles. The woods around the edge of the pond are deep and green and beautiful. There is a new platform extending from the shore and a perfect diving board over water twelve feet deep. The swimming area is carefully roped in, so the swimmers venture too far. And there are expert guards to protect them in case of emergency.

When I think of the privileges given by Camp Devens to the youth of the C.M.T.C., I wish I were a boy again. Swimming, movies, splendid instruction from experts, good food and plenty of it, comfortable beds, cleanliness, the care of medical men, regular life, plenty of sleep, all these benefits come to the boy who is so fortunate as to go to Devens. And all of this is free. Think of it! A circular came to me a few weeks ago from a private camp that did not offer one half as much. Yet it made a charge of $150 per month per boy. Of course I will send my son to Camp Devens the first year in which he can be legally admitted. It is a snap!

But it is not primarily for the sake of the material benefits that I wish to send him to Camp Devens. I want him to go there so that he may become a friend of the United States.

The opinion is growing upon me that the United States is in need of friends. I mean real friends. This thought occurs to me with great force at a recent election when but one-third of the electorate of a great metropolis took the trouble to vote, though there were important issues at stake.

Our country needs friends also because of the present world conditions. Lord Bryce told in my hearing two summers ago at the Institute of Politics in Williams College that there was far more danger of war at that time than in 1914. "The Treaty of Versailles produced more vital problems than it settled." As we look over the world at the present moment do we not feel that Lord Bryce would be even more concerned at the prospect of war than he was in the summer of 1912? Think of the Ruhr, Russia and the Balkans and the Far East. The United States is almost certain to become vitally involved if a great war conflagration should occur in any other part of the world.

The United States needs friends because of the wave of pacifism which is now sweeping over the country and robbing it of its natural strength to defend itself.

Pacifism makes a strong and perhaps natural appeal to two classes of persons. First, to the radicals who are seeking to destroy our government. There are more than 50,000 persons in this country who make their living through this nefarious propaganda. Secondly, pacifism makes its natural appeal also to certain well meaning but mistaken religious organizations and societies and to a considerable number of the people of our churches. Because of its well-defined purpose in reducing still further the regular army and the navy of the United States, the propaganda of pacifism is an exceedingly dangerous force.

Camp Devens will make my son the friend of the United States in two ways. It will give him sufficient military instruction so that he will be able to fight the enemies of his country as a practical soldier. It need should arise.

Or more likely, Camp Devens will prepare him to be one of the instructors in the time of emergency, of that great citizen army which is the supreme hope of the country in respect to defense. Knowing all the wastefulness and the inefficiency of our preparation for the last war, I am glad to see now the beginning of a National Plan of defense. The nation that spent $800,000,000 upon aircraft without producing a single plane that was actually used in fighting in the great war certainly needs a plan of preparations in time of peace. I want my son to participate in that plan.

Camp Devens will make my son a friend of the United States by instilling into his mind and heart the sense of responsibility to his country which is the basis of good citizenship. There are altogether too many of our people at the present time who seem to regard their country as a kind of benevolent old grandmother who exists mainly for the sake of giving cookies and spending money to her children. The man who holds this view of his country is a bad and dangerous citizen. In an autocracy the government can be preserved by the will of the autocrat expressing itself through the strong arm of a standing army. But in a democracy if the people do not care enough for their government to provide for its expenses, it cannot be preserved.

BILLERICA YOUNG MAN FATALLY INJURED

John Stivers, a 17-year-old resident of Billerica, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon at Hooksett, N. H., when the motorcycle he was riding skidded and threw him under the wheels of an oncoming machine.

Stivers, with his brother-in-law, was bound for Concord, N. H., and had been following a machine for some distance. In attempting to pass this machine, the motorcycle skidded and he was thrown directly under the wheels of a machine driven by Fred Parnell, a well-known Manchester grocer, one of which struck his head, fracturing the skull. He was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital in Manchester where he died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Stivers lived with his widowed mother in Billerica and was employed by the Riley Pattern Leather Co. of Woburn.

It must necessarily fall to the spirit of sacrifice on the part of the citizens of a democracy is the cohesive principle by which the democracy is able to hold together. The C.M.T.C. through its discipline, indoctrination and very atmosphere, definitely teaches that sense of personal responsibility which is the basis of sacrifice.

It would be easy to speak of many other benefits which young Americans may gain in the summer camp at Camp Devens. I might speak of lessons in neatness, sanitation, the principles of good health, leadership of men, respect for law and order, and the democratic spirit towards one's neighbor who may be rich or poor. But in the times which are full of danger to the safety of the United States, I feel that the sense of civic responsibility is far and away the best of the benefits of the C.M.T.C. Where else can this spirit be gained so well?

Camp Devens will make my son a friend of the United States by instilling into his mind and heart the sense of responsibility to his country which is the basis of good citizenship. There are altogether too many of our people at the present time who seem to regard their country as a kind of benevolent old grandmother who exists mainly for the sake of giving cookies and spending money to her children. AMUSEMENT NOTES*RIALTO THEATRE

Mark Twain's masterpiece "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," which opens at the Rialto today, was made on a scale worthy of the subject. From the multitudes of Mark Twain's characters as "The Yankee," this story is regarded not only as a classic of American humor, but also as a forcible satire directed against those who are always scheming for "the good old times." Mark Twain sets about to show, and does show, that today the world is the best possible of all worlds and that the present time is the best possible of all times.

This he does by taking a typical young American bright as a new penny, and with up-to-date ideas, and setting him down in a medieval court where he could judge for himself whether the knights of old were more courageous than the men of today and whether life as a whole was more comfortable then than now.

What is he doing as much as 105 feet in length have been caught in the Antarctic.

ANOTHER MYSTERY ENTERS INTO THE MURDER OF POLICE OFFICER IN METHUEN

Another element has entered into the mystery surrounding the murder of Police Officer Arthur J. Bowler of Methuen—the gun which Officer John Macdonald says he used in firing after the fleeing auto-ista is missing, and no one knows where it is.

Chief James W. Riley of the Methuen police said last week that he sent Macdonald's gun, together with the bullet extracted from Bowler's body and which is believed to have caused his death, both to Capt. Proctor of the state police. Chief Riley says he sent both the bullet and gun to have Capt. Proctor, who is an expert, to determine if that bullet was fired from Macdonald's gun, as there was a suggestion that a bullet from Macdonald's gun might have accidentally hit Bowler.

Capt. Proctor says he never received the gun or the bullet.

Medical Examiner Victor A. Reed of Essex county, who performed the autopsy on Bowler's body, admits that he has the bullet which he extracted from the body, but he says he did not receive the gun.

And the question naturally arises, where is Macdonald's gun?

Attorney Daniel J. Donahue of this city, counsel for Barney Banks, the Lowell young man who is being held without bail on a formal charge of the murder of Bowler as a result of his own story, plans to visit his client in the Lawrence jail tomorrow.

Attorney Donahue says that nothing further will develop so far as Banks is concerned, until after he is examined by physicians as to his mental standard.

COWBOY'S DEVOTION TO FAITHFUL HORSE EXEMPLIFIED IN LONG TRIP ACROSS COUNTRY

COWBOY GEORGE MORIN AND "SKEETER"

George Morin, After 38 Years on a Ranch in Wyoming, Now at the Home of His Sister, Lucy Morin, in This City—Couldn't Bear to Part With "Skeeter," Whom He Reared, and So He and His Pal Made the 3000-Mile Trip Together

Here's a picture of a real cowboy and his pony, George Morin and "Skeeter"—both of whom are now making Lowell their home. George, after 38 years spent in the wilds of the woolly west, and "Skeeter," whom George reared when the pony was only a month old, tamed and reared him and broke him into the saddle.

And George wouldn't part with "Skeeter" now for a king's ransom, even though he says he is not overburdened with this world's riches. But he feels that he may make Lowell his ownership of his loyal friend and pal, "Skeeter."

In fact, it was George's great love for his horse that prompted him to make a 3000-mile journey over the road with "Skeeter" from a ranch in Rockland, Wyoming, to his relatives in the east, and eventually to the home of his sister, Lucy Morin, at the corner of Suffolk and Moody streets. He has been here three weeks now, and although his mind is not definitely made up yet, he feels that he may make Lowell his

But he feels immensely rich in the knowledge that he has a good horse.

Pretty Face Isn't All You

GUY LA FAYETTE

HOPE DROWN

BY JACK RUMMELYER

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13.—As "Center White," accepting a few wistful girls told "Angela Whittlett" she ought to be in the movies. To which she replied with a smile of her own. "I'm not," she said.

"White" is a condition rather than a place, and "Angela" is any one of a million's poor struck American girls convinced that the means of making believe await them with open arms.

"Angela" doesn't get to believe but she's the belle of the "Hollywood" movie lot. And there's no time to be induced by haggard devotion to the seamy adventures of the "Whitties," who fail to make the red carpet.

"Hollywood" kids the popular taste of the movie world, but the public respects it those who view it with alarm, parties fit in among its own beauties and beauties, and perpetuates delusions by passing every member of the "Whitties" family except "Angela" across the limousines.

Kitchen girls have probably sent more girls to Hollywood than the waitresses of diners, as well as conjectured experts. "The poor poverty-stricken girls washing" shuns Angela with scolding. "She's a show and her grandpa's got the train at their village." "She's going to be a picture girl." She can't understand why ordinary men and earnest druggists merely take her name and address when she is so ready to start right now.

Now our "Grandma Whittlett" and "Aunt Sarah" left bound temporally in the land of peace, unknown, why "Angela" is so long repaying from her first day's salary the loan of her first day's title to move.

Director James Cagney of "Clawed Woman" fame introduces practically every interesting idea, paragon and institution in Hollywood during the process of the girl's disillusionment and failure. This is the reason for the production, the rather thin story being merely a cinematic sight seeing, but passing leisurely through the film calendar.

Among the pictures shown in the non-star cast, get the greatest cast in the world," as Leslie Hall's play and Mary Pickford, Anna Pavlova, Clara Bow, Chaplin, Will Rogers, Tom Mix.

STRESEMANN NOW AT HELM

Politicians Interested in New German Chancellor's Attitude Toward "Big Business"

Indebted to Influence and Support of Industrialists for His Advancement

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—What attitude Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the new chancellor, will take toward "big business," now that he is installed as head of a coalition of coalitions, is a question which is directly affecting agitation of the ranks of the politicians. They readily admit to the influence and support of industrialists for his political advancement.

When the old political lines were forced to dissolve after the revolution of November 1918, Stresemann, then a leading leader of the old national liberal party, suddenly found himself managing the newly created democratic party of Theodore Wolff refused to receive him into his fold.

Convinced by the rebuff, Stresemann proceeded to organize the German people's party which presently became known as the "Industrial party" because it was so secret that its organizer had recruited the new party out of the ranks of the industrialists following and won the financial support of the party.

The working out of the post-war problems gradually resulted in creating a right and left wing of the party, Stresemann being commonly viewed as the champion of the liberal faction.

When the Wirth cabinet retired in March and the united socialists refused point-blank to enter the coalition government in which the former socialist party was represented, this year has prompted the socialists to abandon their erstwhile alliance against on suspicion of Dr. Stresemann's party in connection with the present crisis, is not yet apparent, but the compactness with which they consented to enter into a coalition with it suggests to patriotic onlookers that the new chancellor evidently is in full accord with the demands put forward by the united socialists with respect to the foreign government's internal policy.

In general, the view is wholly in favor of a coalition and even more so is reported to be on good terms with big business as represented by the Krupp, Thyssen and others the new chancellor's outstanding political virtue as his record up to his "stable adaptation" to existing political situations, a faculty which frequently shows itself in his speeches before the meeting of which he has been a member since 1907.

At the new cabinet represents a coalition government, it is important to note that the united socialists, under the new minister with a sufficient array of 172 Reichstag members, as compared with a total of 131 claimed by the three bourgeois parties with which the socialists now are allied.

No decision has yet been reached regarding the alignment of the capitalist party, although it is known the socialist desire the ministry of finance, economy and justice, because of the political importance of these departments.

ELECTIONS IN IRELAND

Little Excitement Over Approaching Elections—Nominations Aug. 18

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—There is little sign of any popular excitement over the approaching elections in Ireland, although the day for nominating can-candidates has been fixed for August 18. Four or five sections of organized opinion have been holding conventions and choosing candidates, and the independents have been busy, but it is not expected that there will be anything like an exhaustive vote in any of the constituencies. Election day is August 27.

According to present indications, there will be four candidates for every seat, and as each voter has only one first preference vote, the result will depend upon the distribution of the second, third and fourth choices.

DUBLIN, Aug. 13. Haig, government ministers, deputies and senators, army chiefs, distinguished foreign visitors and representatives of the professions and of trade and commerce.

The proceedings were witnessed by a throng in the street, outside of military cordon, the spectators jostling reverently in the silent tribute when the last post was sounded. Four minutes silence was observed, being broken only by the booming of guns in Phoenix park.

HEARING DISCERNED

New Radio Instrument Tells Range of Audibility

What is impossible for the human ear to perceive, or the eye to discern, radio will divulge.

This direct statement is made on the report by Western Electric scientists that they have perfected an instrument which measures a person's hearing to the slightest possible degree. And to this is added the further advancement in this science toward the discernment of sound waves unaware to man.

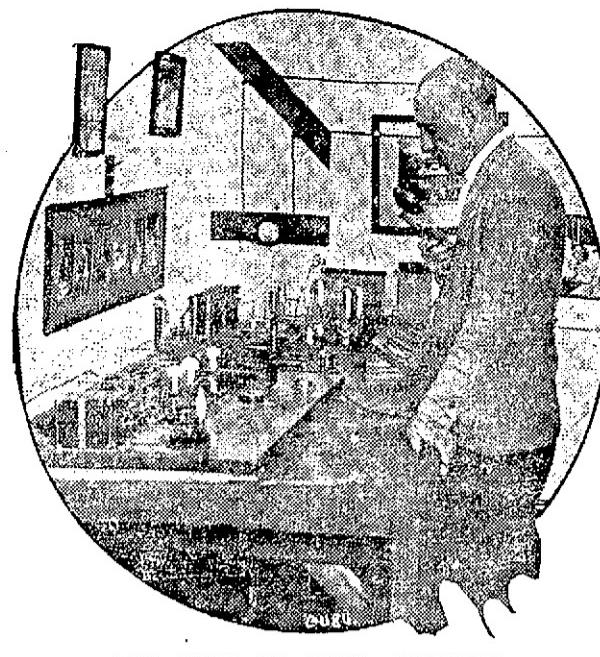

Thus it is maintained, the audiometer will come into practical use in the audibility of a person. The sensitivity of a normal ear includes 30,000 pure sounds of varying degree, designed with greater accuracy, since the experimenters say. Having ascertained this number, the scientist's "gates of hearing required in certain can determine the degree of deafness of a person by the number of sounds within the normal range which he cannot hear. This they can do with the use of the audiometer.

How It Works

This instrument consists of vacuum tubes, coils and adjustable resistances. By a proper arrangement of circuits and vacuum tube can generate an oscillating current of varying frequency. This is transferred into sound vibrations by means of a telephone receiver and those vibrations that a person says he can hear are noted, while the slightest step outside the subject's audibility is registered on the audiometer.

THE ENVY OF RADIO AMATEURS

Charles Bernstein, noted Chicago criminal lawyer, shown here, may well be said to have one of the most perfectly equipped stations in the country. In fact, it is a regularly licensed broadcasting station, whose call letters are WTAS, and from which Bernstein sends out concerts of his own devising. The interior of his studio is said to be one of the most artistic and handsomely furnished in the country.

instances, through the use of the audiometer.

Sight, Ton

Similar to this instrument, it is expected, radio will be the key toward the invention and perfection of a sight registering apparatus. Thus the distance a person can see, and the accuracy of his eyes could be registered more precisely than does any instrument of today. Radio, with its detection of the finest wave lengths and frequencies, could easily be a means toward the accomplishment of such a feat.

It is not difficult to perceive of a radio instrument also which could detect the faintest sound and discern the slightest ray of light—both out of the range of human ear and eye. Out of this could come rescue apparatus for entombed miners, life-saving equipment and such serviceable means of saving lives quickly.

PAY-RADIO-PHONE

Actual practical installation of the long-dreamed pay station for radio has finally been begun in Paris. Cafes, hotels and other public places have these slots with earphones, through which a broadcast concert can be heard after a coin is dropped.

POWERFUL TIDES

The Atlantic liner Leviathan has two of the most powerful vacuum tubes employed in radio transmission. They have a capacity of 10,000 watts each and have power enough to span the Atlantic.

Bergdoll Planned to Return

to United States With His Mother Next Month

EDERRACH, Germany, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, the American draft evader, said last night that he had expected to return to the United States with his mother on Sept. 25, but that that last Saturday's effort to kidnap him made him hesitate about doing so.

Mrs. Bergdoll was not in the hotel when the attempt was made to seize her son. Bergdoll has not been arrested, but has made a formal statement to the police.

The four men held in connection with the attempted kidnapping were removed last night to another place.

Baden, the name of which was not made public. They are: Griffith, a former American lieutenant; Faust Gaggen, a Russian prince; Roger Sperber, a French detective and a citizen of France; and John Nelson, an American chauffeur.

The German police say that Sperber, who was wounded twice during the clash in the hotel, has informed them that Griffith engaged him in Paris two months ago to arrange the kidnapping, telling him that a well known American organization was financing the affair.

Karl Schmidt was shot three times by Bergdoll within 10 minutes and died without making a statement. He was a Swiss citizen and a resident of Lausanne.

The shooting occurred in a dark room. Bergdoll fired six shots, three of which hit Schmidt while two struck Sperber and one went wild. Sperber will be charged with attempted murder, while the charge against the other prisoners will be complicity in a murder conspiracy.

But that doesn't mean a thing in the sculling business.

Why, don't you know, they're getting ready for their annual sculling meet. They're going to show up some of those mere babies like Walter Lippert, Fred Kamm and Mike O'Keefe?

Plaisted, of course, is still too young to win again. Remember how he covered a mile and a quarter on the Schuylkill River last year in just 8 minutes and 35 seconds, edging Reilly out by only a very narrow margin?

Reilly's Got Irish Eye

But he'd better watch out for Jim Ten Eyck.

Again it was Plaisted who issued the challenge. And it included Coach Jim Reilly. There's plenty of fire in that Irishman's eyes. He's out to get revenge—and a double measure of it—for his rotten luck in 1922.

A good many folks admit Plaisted stands the better show. He's quite a bit younger, they say. Fred's only 76.

All this gossip, however, doesn't worry Reilly one particle. Why, a man's more mature at 76 than at 75, and possesses more strength and endurance. So this Plaisted doesn't need to go around bragging so much.

Ten Eyck Included

Again it was Plaisted who issued the challenge. And it included Coach Jim

Ten Eyck, veteran Syracuse rowing coach—in fact, any boy of 70 or more who thought he could get the best of Fred Plaisted. But Jim hasn't replied yet.

Probably he'll turn down the bid just like he did last year. He doesn't care for such competition, especially when he's got his eye on the date and place of this year's United Reilly classic; he hasn't been worked out yet. But both Fred and Jim promise to keep their friends well informed on all developments.

Fifteen years ago Plaisted and Reilly were champions. Ever since they've kept in condition by a little paddling every summer.

Father Time just doesn't seem to be able to put the best of them.

LEADING ROOK PITCHERS

By N. E. A. Service

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 13.—Ruth Thomas must have learned to swim about the time she began mastering her alphabet.

You'd judge as much from the array of medals and ribbons she has been awarded these last few years.

Only 15, she already has won the Grand National swimming championship, the 220 junior breast stroke cup, and the 200 yard women's ocean crown.

And now she's after the 220 senior breast stroke title. She'll compete for it at the Indianapolis swimming carnival, August 25.

If Lady Luck is with her then, Ruth should have no trouble in landing a berth on the American Olympic team.

Ruth, prettily dressed, is the eldest daughter of Howard Thomas, former soap magnate, who ran the old National and Eastern Basketball Leagues in the days of Charley Bogart, Joe

Fogarty, Al Cooper and Leo and Dan

Haggerty.

Before signing up with the Ambassador Swimming club here, she was the colors of the Philadelphia Turners league.

Coach Ronald (Pat) Reilly, former

Meadowbrook Athletic club star, is confident Ruth will lead all comers a merry chase for a good many years to come.

You know she's only 15. And only a

Johnson Admits He's Slipping

WALTER JOHNSON

By N. E. A. Service

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Walter Johnson, going once more, can be no doubt about it.

At times, Johnson looks as good as ever, but his pitching lacks the old consistency that made him the greatest pitcher of his day.

Johnson has been pitching in the American League since 1907. He has always been on a losing team, never with a great club.

As a result, in order to win, he invariably was forced to press his pitching to the limit.

When a good pitcher goes to go back, the game is invariably lost to an ailing arm.

Listen to what Johnson has to say on this point:

"Of course, I am not as good as I was 10 or 15 years ago. Age tells in baseball quicker than any other sport."

"I'm going back, and no one knows it better than I do. It may surprise you, however, to know that I figure this is my legs, not my throwing arm that is failing me."

"Unless a pitcher's legs are strong and able to stand up under the constant strain of striding on every ball pitched, he can't get his stuff on the ball."

"My legs are far more troublesome than my arms. Some days they seem weak to support my body, after I have gone four or five innings at top speed.

"Certainly, I am not as good as I was 15 years ago. Age tells in baseball quicker than any other sport."

"I am getting away from it," Johnson said.

"I am getting away from it."

MEN'S INVITATION TENNIS TOURNEY

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 13.—The men's invitation tennis tournament opened today on the Casino club courts here, with a first round match between B. L. C. Norton, South American star, and W. W. Tegnander, Swedish ace, for the championship, and five of the country's "first ten" in tennis rank were entered.

In addition to the feature first round match, several second round contests were today's program. In the afternoon half of the day, James M. Bigges of California, was paired with Lucien S. Williams of Yale, in one contest, while another was to bring together two other Californians, Harvey Sandquist and Wallace J. Bates, and another pair, from the interior, Sam Allerton, Spanish player, was paired with Thomas Edgeworth of Philadelphia and Jose Alonso with Howard Kinsey of California.

Following a layoff of several weeks, the men's tennis players are once more in the field and will be arranging in series of games with the fast 14-15-year-old baseball team, the Buffaloes, Rutherford seconds preferred. The players claim the championship of their class, having won 11 games and lost none. The lineup is as follows: Riley, Murray, Peter, McLean, Kelcher, Lafeyette, DeLong, Mahoney, Brown, Shattuck and Kennedy.

FRENCH DAVIS CUP TEAM TO PLAY

BOOKLINE, Aug. 13.—The members of the French Davis cup team, victors in the European zone play for the international lawn tennis trophy, will take part in the national double tournament to end the Lowell open.

On Saturday, the French team will play against the Buffaloes, the first game to be played at the Woodlawn avenue grounds, the second on the North common, and the third, if necessary, will be decided by a toss of the coin.

The French team, which was matched to play the Emeralds on the North common last Saturday, failed to show up at the Emeralds won on a forfeit.

The Emeralds claim 13 victories and 5 defeats, and counting the forfeits, which number 5, they are now 18. Saturday the Emeralds will meet the Buffaloes, the first game to be played at the Woodlawn avenue grounds, the second on the North common, and the third, if necessary, will be decided by a toss of the coin.

Hirsch's left hand surprise appeared particularly effective in his five-hour session of practice play on the Chestnut Hill courts yesterday. In the Davis cup doubles on Thursday he will, it is announced, pair off with Bergman, on whose right hand rear, he was taken to believe that Bert Lengen and Jacques Brunnen would play together in the national doubles and that an American partner would be sought for Pierre Hirsh.

Prudhomme joined the international team in the 1922 tournament at Wimbledon.

In the 1923 tournament at Wimbleton, Prudhomme, the Spanish star, this year beat successfully with another Frenchman, Dupont, in the world's hard court championship at St. Cloud, France.

PRIV. MITCHELL GOES TO CAMP DEVENS

By N. E. A. Service

Private Howard L. Mitchell, clerk in the legal office of the Organized Es-ecutive, has been ordered to Camp Devens for active duty for the remainder of the summer.

Mitchell is a full-blooded Indian, a member of the Penobscot tribe, and his Indian name is Daylight. He is the son of the chief of the tribe. He was born in Winterport, Me., Jan. 7, 1897.

In 1905 he went to Indian reservation, Indian Island, Maine, and attended school there. When the war broke out he was at Carlisle college and left there to enlist in the regular army.

He was soon promoted to a corporal and saw service at Camp Forest, Ga., and Camp Devens, from which he was discharged in 1919. He re-enlisted at Fort Warren for a year and then re-enlisted again at Fort William, Portland, on Jan. 5 of this year he was honorably discharged. Since then he has been working at the Wachusett Dam, in St. Cloud, N. H. He later left that position for about 14 years to be superintendent in one of the largest mills in St. Cloud, N. H. He later left that position for a similar one in Adams.

Mr. Lacey who left Lowell 32 years ago has been here for a few days renewing acquaintances and friends.

Mr. Lacey, who left Lowell to accept the position of superintendent in one of the largest mills in St. Cloud, N. H. He later left that position for a similar one in Adams.

AUGUST MILL DIVIDENDS

More than one straw shows which way the New England wind of prosperity blows. Even with a so-called "dull season" in cotton textile manufacturing and sales markets, the condition of most of the "big line" textile concerns in New England communities, Lowell included, is prophetic of the times. There is no question that it has been a prosperous run thus far in 1923. There is no better indication of prosperous times than a glance at the dividend announcement columns of leading financial publications covering the textile mill disbursements in mid-summer as per semi-annual or quarterly dividends.

Heading in the publicly announced list as usual, comes the Merrimack Manufacturing company, with announcement of preferred stock dividend No. 39, a semi-annual dividend of two and one-half per cent, to be paid on September 1 to stockholders of record. The Merrimack will also pay a quarterly dividend of one and one-half per cent on common stock, Sept. 1.

The venerable Hamilton Manufacturing company, old in years but still young in spirit and active in manufacturing comfortable quantities of high quality cotton goods, always in demand, announces the payment on August 15 of a quarterly dividend of one dollar per share.

Across the way the Massachusetts Cotton mills have just disbursed a dividend of three dollars per share to stockholders of record at the close of business July 19. And the Ipswich mills, burdened by a twelve months' "slow business," but picking up fast with new hosiery lines in good demand, have just paid a quarterly dividend of one and three-quarters on all preferred stock, the disbursements being made August 1. Down in Lawrence the Pacific mills, among other great thriving textile concerns, paid quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent as usual on August 1.

The story continues in all mill centers where the textile business has flourished for so many years. The records of the past only prove that the future is still bright. New England's thriving manufacturing concerns of the American textile industry, show no tendency to slip backward. The dividend disbursements come along with a regularity that augurs well for the future.

KU KLUX MEMORIAL SERVICES?

Where did that narrow minded, intolerant and un-American cult, the Ku Klux Klan, hold memorial exercises on the death of the late President Harding? Surely a society that claims a monopoly of the sinuous pure patriotism of the country, held exercises to extol the memory and the character of Mr. Harding who was a real patriot and a true American. But as such he could not accept or approve the principles of the K. K. K. which would banish about half the people of this country, or else deprive them of their rights. President Harding alive, could never stoop to any such infamous and un-American travesty on patriotism and Americanism as the tenets of the K. K. K.

No other benefit can be derived from the life, the teaching and example of Warren G. Harding can equal that of the spirit of good will, mutual respect and harmony which he endeavored to inculcate among the people wherever he went. It is by practising these patriotic virtues of which Mr. Harding was the exemplar that we can become a more harmonious, more powerful and more sensible people and better Americans. But his example and his practical Americanism were the very antithesis of the un-American principles of the K. K. K.

Needless to say, that nobody can advocate a doctrine subversive of the constitution and at the same time be a true American. Therefore, the K. K. K. are not Americans but rather pharisaical hypocrites and would be usurpers of the rights, the property and the privileges of certain classes of honest Americans who in every test have proved their loyalty to the union and the flag.

INFANT MORTALITY

In some cases over 10 cents per gallon. If gasoline is sold to the dealers at 13 cents per gallon, they should be able to sell it at least for 20 cents or less, but presumably, owing to high freight rates, by the time the gasoline reaches the eastern coast, the price ranges from 25 to 30 cents although some local contractors of gasoline to the states have been 20 cents per gallon. There is a good deal of perplexity as regard to protection against the hot sun, as it is more needed than in South Dakota because the price here is at least 4 or 6 cents higher than in Guyana's home state.

STEINMETZ AND FORD

Charles P. Steinmetz, the wizard electrician, urges business men to try Henry Ford as president as a business proposition. Although Steinmetz is the foremost electrician in the country, his advice in political matters is not of much account. He is reported to be an anti-social socialist which if true, would indicate that his attention should be given to social and material matters. He should realize that the president of the United States may be something more than mere business man. A good many men who are successful in business are trained in one line of industry only and may be regarded as wholly ignorant of matters outside their specialty. That is largely true of Henry Ford, and it is also true in a measure of Steinmetz.

The figures are somewhat misleading as they refer to the deaths per 1,000 of population instead of per 100 babies. For example, if there are two entries of our population, one having twice as many babies as the other, the infant mortality to the former would naturally be greater than in the latter. I G. Davis and Lowell have more babies in proportion to the population than Boston, cities engaged in different lines of industries such as, for example as Springfield, Lynn and Cambridge. Still in factory cities such as Lowell, the infant mortality is higher than in the cities like Lowell, than in Boston, in proportion to the population.

COOLIDGE AS A LISTENER

Various anxious office holders who have already called upon President Coolidge for the purpose of ascertaining his attitude on important public questions are unanimous in the opinion that he is an excellent listener. If they went to the White House to see the president, it appears that machinery didn't work. In this case we expect the president will take an emphatic stand on the coal strike, the enforcement of the prohibition law, the calling of an extra session of congress, the farming issue and the railroad consolidation.

GOASLINE WAR

Gov. McMaster of South Dakota has started a war on retail gasoline dealers in his state and also against the Standard Oil Co. which he charges sells its products at highway robbery rates. Independent dealers, he asserts, sell gas at the state supply depot at 16 cents per gallon and there, he claims, the middleman, by any form of evasion, the company dictates the price so that there is no chance of reducing the rates except through a gasoline war. Sunday recklessness keeps the highways and the undertakers busy. But the retail price has been reduced

SEEN AND HEARD

A Thought

Lettering slow, the future creeps; and arrow-swift, the present sweeps; and most understands the past. - Schiller.

These Scientists

"Professor Hayes, the famous archaeologist, is said to have discovered half a dozen buried cities." Mrs. Dilys, "I want to proud of him." "Well, yes, she would have more respect for his ability as an explorer if she didn't have to find his hat for him every time he leaves the house." - Philadelphia Inquirer.

Was Well Advanced

"I asked you to send me young lettuce," said the customer. "Yes, ma'am," answered the grocer. "Wasn't it young?" Young returned the housewife. "It's almost old enough to wash and dress itself!"

Can't Be Tolerated

Resourceful Yankees even have succeeded in getting tea in British restaurants, but it is reported that management, mindful of payment, are planning to tell the police minister to take steps to put an end to this disgraceful practice against the time-honored institution of tea.

They Were Schoolmates

Condenser Edward Warren of Omaha, Conductor of the train east from Northshire to Omaha, Mr. Warren was a schoolmate and playmate of Warren G. Harding. They belonged to the same church, played and visited together and later became members of the same church and Masonic Lodge.

Winged Intruder

While driving home in the fog about midnight, Michael Gaucher of Eastbridge watered the surprise of his life when a large wild goose came crashing through the window of his car. The bird struck right on going back against the long window, then fell to the rear. The winged was smashed and the frame was badly bent. The bird broke its wing and Mr. Gaucher had to kill it.

Pig Not to Blame

The 25th anniversary of the wedding day of Jarge and Ann was drawing nigh. But it was Ann who first spoke about it. "Don't know, Jarge," she said, "to our silver wedding next week we ought to have a celebration or sorts that day. Shall us kill the pig?" Jarge grunted. "Doubt be a fink," "O'man," said he. "Whel number an innocent pig for what happened 25 year agone?"

Excited One Confused

An over-dressed and hirsute woman sat in a London bus and tendered a coin without condescending to glance at the conductor, who asked, "Where do you want to go, madam?" "As far as that will take me," she replied, taurily. "Well, it won't take you any where," was the retort, and everybody understood the dame's confusion as she took back the penny and tumbled in her handbag.

Giving Full Credit

Hobby, as the boy affectionately called him, was an editor who was always anxious to give credit where credit was due. He urged every man who did any clipping to give full credit to the author and the publication as well. He would often say, "Never force the exchange my boy." And so he could not help feeling gratified one morning to see that a newspaper which had printed a beautiful cartoon had printed in a beautiful script the credit line read, "William C. Gladstone in the Blackville Gazette."

"Mick" Longworth's Story

Nicholas Longworth of Ohio told of his experience while driving with a friend through one of the southern states. "One night darkness fell and we were traveling along a lonely road through a strip of seemingly interminable pine timber. After several hours of slow progress we saw a light ahead. When we reached the house we found the Indians used to live in it down town. John, a tall, gaunt, 100-year-old fellow opened the front door and said what we wanted. When I said we wanted to stay all night, he looked us over carefully and said, "Well, I reckon I kin feed you kin. We situated him tidily and went in and found him a nice oyster cabin just swarming with kindlings of all ages. There were six or eight in sight and others within hearing. We were disappointed at seeing only one bed and wondered where we could scarcely hold our eyes open. After saying us a good supper of hog and bean cakes, the mother put the two youngest kids to bed. In less than three minutes they were sound asleep. She took them out and laid them over the corner of the floor and put the next two in bed and so on. When all the little ones were asleep on the floor the dogs rolled right in the woodshed and told us we could use the bed. We stepped in without doubt, Imagine our surprise when we awoke the next morning and found ourselves lying over in the corner with the kids and the old man and woman sleeping in the bed."

A Dream

I had the queerest dream last night. I dreamed that I was back in my old home town which I had not been in since 1914. But I had nothing at all to do with it. To spend as I might, I had a sum of money which I had nothing more to do with.

Whatever I might wish to have my money would provide. No, I am through with money now.

To what a waste of time might one good not give a thought.

I had not been able to sleep well.

A sense of powerlessness.

Then all my fears were gone.

Was under my control.

I viewed the whole world at the time.

And then I found it. I awoke.

And found it all a dream.

SCOTCH FIELD DAY

WAS BIG SUCCESS

A Scotch field day was conducted at Bunting Park Saturday, under the auspices of the Lowell Pipe band, and a big crowd thoroughly enjoyed itself. There were running races and field events of all kinds, and, of course, the usual competitive dancing that sent a thrill through every Scotchman present.

During the afternoon the pipe band played a concert, and previous to the gathering at the park marched through the business section of the city, accompanied by the Walter Scott Pipe band of Boston. The youngsters made a decided hit.

Most of the prizes in the dancing contests were won by out-of-town contestants, as there were only a few Lowell entries. Miss Flora McLean of this city, however, captured the first prize in both the adult ring and sword dance, and Isabel Marlowe, also of this city, was first in the sword dance for girls under 12.

The winners in the various events were as follows:

50-yard race, kids under 10 years—

Won by Alice Garfield; Ruth McLean, second; Helen Armstrong, third.

Vegetable Marmalades

There are few vegetables that make delicious and unusual sweets. Carrots are especially good. The vegetable marrow can be used. Beets are attractive and combine well with fruits and berries alone or, in combination, make conserves that are heartily appreciated during winter.

There is a distinct saving in the use of vegetables. They are cheaper than fruit in the first place and make it possible to increase the amount of sugar in the second. The vegetable sets up a sort of flavor or foundation which the fruit simply adds to.

Of course, a vegetable marmalade is not as rich as an ordinary fruit sweet, but for everyday use in a family with children the "imitation" marmalade is desirable.

Imitation Orange Marmalade

One pound currants, 2 oranges, 1 lemon, 3 cups sugar. Scrape currants and put through food chopper. Cook in boiling water to cover for fifteen minutes. Wash oranges and lemon and squeeze out juice. Cook citrus in water to cover till tender, shred rinds or purée them in a chopper. Add juice, seeds, sugar to carrots and simmer till thick and jelly like. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cool. It will take long cooking to make the marmalade, as there is much pectin in lemon rind.

Imitation Apricot Marmalade

One pound currants, 3 lemons, 4 cups sugar, 20 blanched almonds, 1/4 teacup lemon flavoring. Wash and scrape carrots. Put through food chopper and cook in boiling water to cover till tender. (Copyright, 1923, N.E.A. Service)

Smacks of Propaganda

note to the French government officials, it was said, was the contention that the occupation of the Ruhr was illegal.

Justices Rule Occupation

"The legality of the occupation of the Ruhr by any other German territory the Allies might choose was recognized in a document signed at Berlin in July 1920 by the British as well as the other allies and by representatives of the German government, an official said.

He referred to the protocol in which was set forth the decisions of the Spa conference regarding the delivery on reparation account in which a clause reads:

"If by Nov. 15, 1920, it appears that the cost delivered for August, September and October have not reached a total of 6,000,000 francs the allies will proceed to the occupation of new territory in Germany in the region of the Ruhr or elsewhere."

The official characterized as an "unheard of proceeding" the comparison made by Lord Curzon between France's war debt and the reparation due from Germany.

"Our war debt," he said, "enabled us to win the war and helped us to make a greater military effort to save British and American lives while the German debt represents blood of the allies that was shed. France does not regard her war debts as paid her by some of her allies but she intends to pay her own."

London Papers Approve Note

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(By the Associated Press)—A majority of the morning newspapers approve, either wholly or in the main, the British note to France and Belgium.

"The note is strong, but not too strong," comments the Times. "It was high time such a clear statement of the British case was made."

This newspaper adds that the government put its case regarding the alliance debts with "gratifying firmness" and concludes that the taking of separate action by Great Britain would be the logical result of such a frank expression of policy. The Times urges that "Great Britain is to act as quickly as possible for her own sake and for the sake of Europe."

The Daily Telegraph describes the note as "a pro-British from start to finish," adding that on that account alone the support of a great majority of the English people should rally to the side of the government. However, the newspaper reluctantly adds that if the press were to accept the incomparability of French and British standards accurately represent the facts, the spirit of sympathy which made the alliance a strong living thing, and

RESERVES DECISION IN WARD CASE

STOCK MARKET

WORCESTER, Aug. 13.—William Green, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America here today to speak on the coal plan for workmen's compensation at the 38th annual convention of the Massachusetts state branch of the American Federation of Labor, said it is his hope of miners and operators being able to settle their differences, thereby averting a strike of anthracite miners on Sept. 1, when present contracted expires. He believes that the necessity for anthracite for New England and other places where this coal is used largely will result in President Calvin Coolidge taking action to avert or overcome strike of hard coal miners. Mr. Green said the miners were unable to see any justification for high price of hard coal considering labor costs averaging $4 and $5 to get it from the mines.

VOSHELL ELIMINATED IN TENNIS MATCHES

CASINO COURTS, NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 13.—Howard Vosshell of New Bedford, N. Y., 16th ranking player of the United States in 1922, was eliminated in the first upset in the early round matches of the Invitational tournament here today by Philbin Van Dusen of Philadelphia. Van Dusen, who was also Vosshell's last-round opponent in the opening, 1922, U. S. Open, won the match, 6 games to 4, 6 games to 4. The victory was of a rather varied character but was most effective in the final merchandising and social games. Woodworth leading the advances with 6 games to 5 points. Both players had been held in check during the early rounds by another new low record for the year. Trading slackened somewhat toward mid-day and the top players of the morning were shaded out. The men who had been following the line of high romance and high-life profits, full money open, 16 to 15, 16 to 15.

Souction was largely at a standstill in the early afternoon, fluctuations being temporary, trading being confined to the more active and higher British & Smethwick dropped 2% to 18, the lowest of the year.

The closing was easy. Weakness of the only in the final drawings brought sympathetic declines in the rest of the list, but the recessions, as a rule, were small.

GOOD PLACE FOR BOYS

seen a more perfect swimming pool. The water is as clear as crystal. The bottom is of white pebbles. The woods around the edge of the pond are deep and green and beautiful. There is a new platform extending from the shore and a perfect diving board over water twelve feet deep. The swimming area is carefully roped so that the swimmers venture too far. And there are expert guards to protect them in case of emergency.

When I think of the privileges given by Camp Devens to the youths of the C.M.T.C., I wish I were a boy again. Swimming, movies, splendid instruction from expert officers, good food and plenty of it, comfortable beds, callisthenics, the care of medical men, regular life, plenty of sleep, all these benefits come to the boy who is so fortunate as to go to Devens. And all of this is free. Think of it. A circular came to me a few weeks ago from a private camp that did not offer one half as much. Yet it made a charge of $150 per month per boy. Of course I will send my son to Camp Devens the first year in which he can be legally admitted. It is a snap!

But it is not primarily for the sake of the material benefits that I wish to send him to Camp Devens. I want him to go there so that he may become a friend of the United States.

The opinion is growing upon me that the United States is in need of friends. I mean real friends. This thought occurred to me with great force at a recent election when but one-third of the electorate of a great metropolis took the trouble to vote, though there were important issues at stake.

Our country needs friends also because of the present world conditions. Lord Bryce said in my hearing two summers ago at the Institute of Politics in Williams College that there was far more danger of war at that time than in 1914. "The Treaty of Versailles produced more vital problems than it settled." As we look over the world at the present moment do we not feel that Lord Bryce would be even more concerned at the prospect of war than he was in the summer of 1912? Think of the Ruhr, Russia and the Balkans and the Far East. The United States is almost certain to become involved in some conflict.

vitally involved if a great war conflagration should occur in any other part of the world.

The United States needs friends because of the wave of pacifism which is now sweeping over the country and robbing it of its natural strength to defend itself.

Pacifism makes a strong and perhaps natural appeal to two classes of persons. First, to the materials who are seeking to destroy our government. There are more than 50,000 persons in this country who make their living through this nefarious propaganda. Secondly, pacifism makes its natural appeal also to certain well-meaning but misguided religious organizations and societies and to a considerable number of the people of our churches.

Because of its well-defined purpose to defend still further the regular army and the navy of the United States, the propagandists of pacifism is an exceedingly dangerous force.

Camp Devens will make my son the friend of the United States in two ways. It will give him sufficient military instruction so that he will be able to fight the enemies of his country as a practical soldier. If need should arise, or more likely, Camp Devens will prepare him to be one of the instructors in the time of emergency, of that great citizen army which is the supreme hope of the country in respect to defense.

Knowing all the wastefulness and the inefficiency of our preparation for the last war, I am glad to see now the beginning of a National Plan of Defense. The nation that spent $500,000,000 upon aircraft without producing a single plane that was actually used in fighting in the great war certainly needs a plan of preparedness in time of peace. I want my son to participate in that plan.

Camp Devens will make my son a friend of the United States by instilling into his mind and heart the sense of responsibility to his country which is the basis of good citizenship. There are altogether too many of our people at the present time who seem to regard their country as a kind of benevolent old grandfather who exists mainly for the sake of giving cookies and spending money to her children.

The man who holds this view of his country is a bad and dangerous citizen. In an autocracy the government can be preserved by the will of the autocrat expressing itself through its strong arm of a standing army. But in a democracy if the people do not care enough for their government to pres-

BILLERICA YOUNG MAN FATALY INJURED

John Stivers, a 17-year-old resident of Billerica, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon at Brooksville, N. H., when the motorcycle he was driving skidded and threw him under the wheels of an oncoming machine.

Stivers, with his brother-in-law, was bound for Concord, N. H., and had been following a machine for some distance. In attempting to pass this machine, the motorcycle skidded and he was thrown directly under the wheels of a machine driven by Fred Parnell, a well-known Manchester grocer, one of which struck his head, fracturing the skull. He was taken to the Sacred Heart hospital in Manchester where he died at 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Stivers lived with his widowed mother in Billerica and was employed by the Riley Pattern Leather Co. of Woburn.

STATE POLITICS

SUMMARY OF EARLY MORNING A. P. NEWS

Advance of Coolidge Has Changed the Situation in This State

New Candidates and Alignments—Opposition to L. L. Gov. Fuller

RESPOND TO THE SUN.

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Washington politicians are not alone in expressing their belief that chances of republicanism in the election one year from next November have been greatly improved by the elevation of Calvin Coolidge to the presidency.

Here in Massachusetts also, one-time republican leaders jubilant when those of democratic persuasions are either pending or depressed.

While none of the republicans claim they were willing to admit, it days ago, that there was more than a fighting chance for the democrats in the next presidential election, they are not so hopeful in admitting that their hopes had come pretty low at times, and that they would not have been greatly dispirited had the democrats carried Massachusetts at the next election.

All this is premised, of course, upon the supposition that the next republican convention will nominate Coolidge in succession to himself. We of Massachusetts who know the man naturally made that assumption. For us in national politics, both republicans and democrats are not neutral at all times, only in the event of complete failure in the office he now occupies could the party afford to be fused him a nomination. While there may be voices on the first convention ballot for favorite sons such as L. F. Follett, Johnson of California, and perhaps one or two others, Follett will be the unanimous choice of the convention in the second ballot, it is believed, in view of the fact that the first ballot will bring about the other.

For the government's leadership there are two strong candidates, and there may be another, Frank C. Allen of Worcester, president of the state senate, and Frank E. Young of Worcester, speaker of the house of representatives, both of whom are popular, and one of them will win it. The possible entry of Charles J. Purcell, formerly state treasurer, and now a member of the governor's council, is also a factor.

It is unfortunate for the community that Allen and Young have made the same offer of their services to the state as either of them or assuming that the presidential candidate must not come from Massachusetts.

Now all their fears have given way to assuredness, for they reason that republican voters will turn to the polls in tremendous numbers to exercise the one opportunity of a lifetime to vote for a Massachusetts man for president. If for no other reason than to convince national leaders of the purity of their error or assuming that the presidential candidate must not come from Massachusetts.

Washington several weeks have frequently stated in their despatches that Coolidge has approximately 10 months in which to make the record upon which he will win or lose the republicans. As a matter of fact, however, he is in reality only about eight months, for a majority of the state's new electors will be called to the national convention by direct primary, and since the convention is held in June, such states, in most cases, will hold their primaries in April. In all cases of conflict, therefore, delegates favorable to Coolidge will be forced to make their campaigns upon what he may accomplish before next April.

But the purpose of this article is to discuss state politics, as affected by the sudden appearance of Coolidge to the chief office in the land.

Since Massachusetts will elect a United States senator next year, interest naturally centers more about that office than the gubernatorial. Which will probably be a candidate to succeed him in this high state office is still unknown, but it is believed that his effect has been forthcoming from time as yet, in certain of elections. Which would surely soon be second term, but he has no particular bidding for defeat, and it is felt that the important republican projects may cause him to leave the state for another posting on his personal grounds.

His opponent will undoubtedly be Governor Edmund H. Ross, who next year will complete his fourth year as state treasurer of the commonwealth. The latter also has made his announcement of his plans for the state, and it is known that he has been overruled by the governor, who, while he is not in favor of his policies, is willing to give him a free hand.

There are several other candidates for the gubernatorial, and yesterday, at 10 o'clock, a telephone alarm was sounded for a fire at the home of Peter's founder in School street. At 11 o'clock an alarm was sent from box 131 for the Boston Fire Department, and at 11:15 a second alarm from the corner of School and Cambridge streets. At 11:15 a third alarm, morning a still alarm was received, to stamp the fire in the rear of the Lowell High school. A short time later the fire was responsible for a short alarm at 11:40 o'clock.
